DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1 and 3-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" or "preferably" and then narrow language. The Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131 USPQ 74 (Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949). In the present instance, claims 1 (lines 20, 24, 42, 46 and 52), 3 (line 5) and 4 (line 5) recites a broad range of dimensions, and then these claims also recite "preferably" and a specific dimension which is the narrower statement of the range/limitation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 2 and 4-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ciancimino '170 in view of Davis et al. '143 and Cassel '416.

Ciancimino teaches a trash can with a cylindrical rim 16, a pair of handles on the can, and a lid 34 with a handle 46 and a sidewall 36. There are slots 18, 22 on the trash can and nodules 38, 42 to provide twist on, off locking of the lid to the trash can. Ciancimino does not teach the trash can having tapered sidewalls(although the drawings of Ciancimino appear to show the sidewall being tapered) below the cylindrical rim and the specific threads on the can and lid as set forth.

Davis et al. teaches threaded cans with cylindrical rims having threads and tapered sidewall below the rim to allow for nesting of the can when not in use. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the sidewall of the trash can of Ciancimino tapered as taught by Davis et al. below the cylindrical rim to allow for nesting of the trash can when not in use.

Cassel teaches trapezoidal threads on a lid and container to allow for sealing and fastening of the lid by rotation of between 60 and 120 degrees depending on the number and length of each thread. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide trapezoidal threads as taught by

Art Unit: 3727

Cassel on the lid and trash can of Ciancimino to provide fastening and sealing of the lid by rotation of 90 degrees with respect to the trash can.

With respect to claims 4 and 6-8 and the specific dimensions set forth in these claims, the combination as set forth discloses the claimed invention except for these specific dimensions (diameter of bottom and open top of trash can, length of the cylindrical rim, angle of threads, angle of the trapezoidal surfaces of the thread and the thickness of the trash can lid). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the trash can and lid with these specific dimensions, since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980).

5. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ciancimino '170 in view of Davis et al. '143 and Cassel '416 as applied to claim 2 above, and further in view of Matthews et al. '290.

With respect to claim 1, the combination of Ciancimino in view of Davis et al. and Cassel set forth in paragraph #5 is repeated.

Ciancimino, as modified above, teaches everything except for the trash can lid being made of polyvinyl chloride or polyethylene with a specific thickness.

Matthews et al. teaches that it is well known to make containers and lids out of polyolefin or polyvinyl chloride. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the trash can and lid of Ciancimino out of polyvinyl chloride as it is a well known material used to make trash cans and lids known in the art.

With respect to claim 1 and the specific dimensions set forth in this claim, the combination as set forth discloses the claimed invention except for these specific dimensions(diameter of bottom and open top of trash can, length of the cylindrical rim, angle of threads, angle of the trapezoidal surfaces of the thread and the thickness of the trash can lid). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the trash can and lid with these specific dimensions, since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980).

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Gunn, Peters, Rowlands, Jochem et al., Doxey et al. and Arnold teach similar threaded lids and cans to what applicant is claiming.

Attachment for PTO-948 (Rev. 03/01, or earlier)
6/18/01

The below text replaces the pre-printed text under the heading, "Information on How to Effect Drawing Changes," on the back of the PTO-948 (Rev. 03/01, or earlier) form.

INFORMATION ON HOW TO EFFECT DRAWING CHANGES

1. Correction of Informalities -- 37 CFR 1.85

New corrected drawings must be filed with the changes incorporated therein. Identifying indicia, if provided, should include the title of the invention, inventor's name, and application number, or docket number (if any) if an application number has not been assigned to the application. If this information is provided, it must be placed on the front of each sheet and centered within the top margin. If corrected drawings are required in a Notice of Allowability (PTOL-37), the new drawings MUST be filed within the THREE MONTH shortened statutory period set for reply in the Notice of Allowability. Extensions of time may NOT be obtained under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a) or (b) for filing the corrected drawings after the mailing of a Notice of Allowability. The drawings should be filed as a separate paper with a transmittal letter addressed to the Official Draftsperson.

2. Corrections other than Informalities Noted by Draftsperson on form PTO-948.

All changes to the drawings, other than informalities noted by the Draftsperson, MUST be made in the same manner as above except that, normally, a highlighted (preferably red ink) sketch of the changes to be incorporated into the new drawings MUST be approved by the examiner before the application will be allowed. No changes will be permitted to be made other than correction of informalities, unless the examiner has approved the proposed changes.

Timing of Corrections

Applicant is required to submit the drawing corrections within the time period set in the attached Office communication. See 37 CFR 1.85(a).

Failure to take corrective action within the set period will result in ABANDONMENT of the application.
